If you were going out for Halloween, what would you dress up as?

A witch! Because my mother always told me to make up a witchcraft spell!
Jeremy Karkhan
 First-year general ed. and science

I'd wear a big ugly old mask and black cloak. I'd wear something really gross. I want to wear something significant.

Sam Peterson
 First-year general ed. and science

I'd dress as a clown because it's the only thing that doesn't scare my kids.
Phil Fowler
 First-year electronic engineering

I'd go out as a pint of Guinness because I work at an English pub downtown. Get out and enjoy it. I can't drink while I'm working.
Kim Viscari
 Second-year social services

I'd go as Fido Cap because it's an easy costume to make and like the idea of musical jokes.
David Stepien
 Second-year social services

I'd be a teddy bear because they're cuddly and it's got lots of hugs.
Tracy Blasdel
 Second-year life science

I'd go as a French maid. Why not?
Nadine Tuli
 Second-year life science

As a vampire. Because I look like one.
John Gallagher
 First-year engineering

I'd be the earth variety soccer goalkeeper. It's my idea.
Jeff Johnston
 Third-year mechanical engineering

A monk. It's a spiritual role.
Oliver Maulet

Scared Weir Little Guys a hit at Doon

By Arthur K. Linton
 and Dave Wollastun

The Scared Weir Little Guys (SWLGs) from Doon under Macmillan were greeted with warmest approval during the Doon Festival Association (DFA) dinner on Oct. 24, and were awarded for their efforts with the 1994 award of the year for being there in the most creative way.

The SWLGs also have been doing a lot of work for the Doon Festival Association (DFA) since Oct. 24, and were awarded for their efforts with the 1994 award of the year for being there in the most creative way.

Domestic violence is a leading cause of the injury deaths in the U.S., says the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG). The organization is sponsoring a national campaign to raise awareness of the problem. The campaign is called "Domestic Violence: It's Not Just a Crime." It is a part of the organization's ongoing effort to reduce the number of deaths from domestic violence.

Thirties' re-make predictable

By Mark Worsman

When Brady and Adams' remake make good, it's a predictable outcome of the remake. Left: Lure After Brady (Mike Costello) and Adams (Terry McKeay) fall in love when they are engaged to other people.

Keeping their feelings secret, they decide to have an affair. The story is predictable. Instead, they are a team to end the end of the remake. The story is predictable.

Worsman: Brady is a good, and can do anything. Adams is a good, and can do anything. Brady is a good, and can do anything. Adams is a good, and can do anything.
